Castillo Joins T&T Bisso

HOUSTON (May 18, 2009) – The T&T Bisso Response Network, an industry leader in vessel emergency response services, is pleased to announce the addition of Mirian Castillo to its team.

Castillo will serve as operations assistant for the company’s Salvage & Emergency Response group.

“Mirian has the background and experience that will make her a valuable new member of the T&T Bisso response family,” said Mauricio Garrido, the company’s general manager of the Americas & Europe.

Born in Ecuador, Castillo began her career as an operations intern for Gulf Agency Company in Houston. She became a port disbursement analyst for Heidmar Inc., a leading commercial operator of tanker vessels based in Norwalk, Conn., and was later promoted to vetting and quality coordinator in support of tanker vetting and fleet management operations. She is an honors graduate of the State University of New York Maritime College and is pursuing a master of science degree in international transportation management.

Formed in 2005, T&T Bisso is a stand-alone response contractor servicing the maritime, shipping and offshore energy industries. T&T Bisso combines the resources and experience of T&T Marine Salvage, which was founded in 1957, and Bisso Marine Company, founded in 1890. T&T Bisso’s worldwide response network includes firefighting systems, inert gas generators, nitrogen generators, ship-to-ship pumping and lightering systems, pulling systems and diving systems.
